Hays will deliver your groceries. An infant of George Beard's died Saturday. J. H. Hillyard went to Evansville Tuesday. John Vanhook has a new boy at his house. S. D. Hodge, of Salem, spent Sunday in Marion. H. D. Woodbridge, of Salem, was in town Monday. Ohe Paris has a fine new 10 lb. boy at his house. The colored people has a festival Saturday night. Don't forget Hearn wants your poultry Oct 24 and 31. J. H. Hillyard will not go into the drug business again in Marion. Guy, little twelve year old son of Mr H. B. Williams, died Friday. The town has ordered a dozen gas lamps for the streets. They shalies. Rev. M. H. Miley and wife returned Saturday from a four weeks visit in Virginia. Miss Lena Woods went to Salem Wednesday to assist Miss Ada Gilliam teaching. Messrs J. W. and W. M. Freeman went to Colebrook Saturday to hear Gov Fifer speak. And "down went McGinty." Why? Because he didn't buy his groceries from Hays. If there is anything in good groceries, big weight, and low prices, you should try Hays. Mrs J. H. Walker left for Atchison, Kansas, Tuesday, to visit her sister, Mrs Fannie Lively. Mr A. G. Gilbert, of Paducah, was in town Wednesday. He is winding up the Alexander estate. Messrs C. C. Dorrigh, R. Parker, J. Spears and W. H. Padon, of Salem, paid us a visit Thursday. Hays will certainly convince you that he is the man to buy your groceries from, if you will try him. Sam Gugenheim spent last week in Cincinnati, Louisville and Evansville, buying his fall stock of goods. A trial is all Hays wants. If his goods, treatment and prices don't merit your patronage, try another man. Eld John Spurlin began a protracted meeting at Piney creek Monday. Services will be continued indefinitely. Tom Guess, a farmer in the Salem Valley, sold one thousand bushels of old corn a few days ago at 45 cents per bushel. Marriage licenses have been issued to R. E. L. Chron and Emma Plumlee; W. H. Hodge and Mary F. Duval; J. A. Crayne and Mrs. Orpha Cannon. Mrs. Lovins, the milliner, has employed a first class trimmer—a lady who thoroughly understands the business. She has just arrived from the city. The "smelling committee" of the Board of Trustees ought to do a little work. The streets, alleys, back yards, outdoors, etc could profitably be cleansed. Bring me your poultry Thursday and Friday, Oct 24 and 31. I will pay the highest market price. Receive at Marion depot. A. M. Hearn. A stylish hat at poor man's prices, can be had at Frazier's, Shady Grove.

It is stated that there is not a church in Perry county, and that the school houses can be counted on one's fingers. Mr. Carahan will build no houses on that part of the burnt district owned by him this fall. He will fill it with brick business houses next spring. Mr. J. J. Losier, of Paducah, spent several days in Marion this week. Ten years ago he was a school boy at this place. He is now selling church and school furniture. Misses Nettie and Lizzie Grass, of Salem, took the train at this place Monday for Louisville. They will spend two weeks with friends in the city. Elder Green H. Belt was taken suddenly and violently ill while holding a protracted meeting at Freedom church last week, and had to be removed to his home in the Lewis neighborhood. Mr. J. L. Rushing will begin his school at Lone Star Sept 29, 1890. He taught four years at Midway and left that school against the protest of the patrons—a good recommendation. The Little River Association adjourned Friday afternoon, after an interesting session. All the churches except Cave Springs were represented, and the proceedings throughout were pleasant as well as profitable. The next session of the Association will be held with Macedonia church. While in Freedom last week we called J. T. Morgan, one of the leading merchants of the town, and found him busy opening and marking fall goods. He has a good stock and you will save money by trading with him. He will sell you good boots for $1.75, good shoes 50c. Rev. Thompson, pastor of the Chapel Hill church, died at his home in Kuttawa Monday. He was a man of many good qualities, and his death will be deeply regretted by his numerous friends in and around Marion, where he was well known. Mr. J. J. Scott returned from Kansas last week. He went to Kansas in the early spring, rented land and raised a little stock. The drought and drouth ruined his crops, and he returned to Kentucky to remain. The Board of Town Trustees met Monday; A. C. Moore officiating as temporary chairman. N. B. Eddings, the city marshal and collector last year, had refused to turn over the tax book to the new collector, upon the grounds that the action of the Board since the resignation of Judge Nunn as chairman were not legal because there was no chairman. A committee was appointed to settle with the collector and to demand the books. Frank Summerville drove around to office Saturday to "show us," he said, "that J. P. Sullinger didn't have the only colt in the county." Frank has a fine colt. We are glad to note that many of our farmers are giving more attention to the grade of their stock than formerly. The last few years have witnessed a wonderful improvement in this respect. A laudable ambition to excel in quality of stock is springing up among the farmers and is doing much good. The old scrubs are, however, pretty numerous, and it will take several years yet to eradicate them; but they are going and must go. New Bank Building. Marion Bank has purchased the corner lot upon which Hillyard's drug store recently stood, and will immediately erect a two story brick building upon it. The corner room will be occupied by the bank, and between it and the Press building will be three business houses. This building will fill up one of the ugliest gaps left by the fire, and it will be of a style and character to ornament the town. Four Times Married. Mr. Thomas George, a prosperous farmer of Livingston county, and Miss Lula Lowry, daughter of Mr. Thomas Lowry, were united in marriage at the bride's father's Thursday night. Mr. George is but 29 years old, and this is the fourth time he has been married. How Is It. That Hays can sell you better groceries for less money? Because he knows how and when to buy. Where Is He? The Rev. John J. LaFerty, editor of the Richmond Christian Advocate, wants to know the whereabouts of Lemuel W. Powell, who once lived at Powell's Mill, near Cozet, Albemarle county, Va. Dr. LaFerty's address is Richmond, Va.

Dr. Debow will not be a candidate. The name of Dr. J. W. Debow, our new Superintendent of Public Schools, having been mentioned in connection with the Republican nomination for Congress, the Press called upon the doctor to say if he was a candidate for the nomination. In response to our question he said: "I am not a candidate for nomination in any sense." Would you accept the nomination if it were tendered you? "I positively would not. I have no time to make a canvass and the party can not afford to put a candidate unless he makes a thorough and vigorous canvass. That can not be done, because I have my hands full now. The duties of my office require my attention, and third, connection with my law practice will necessarily keep me out of any political Congress, even if I were fully disposed to confer upon the honors of a nomination." To the Sunday School Workers. After consulting some of the S. S. workers I have decided to meet in the town of Marion, Friday and Saturday before the fourth day in Oct. Rev. Fickett, of Louisville, has promised to be with us. Let the S. S. workers come. J. B. Kevil, Co. B. Sept 22, 1890. Another Patent. John R. Griffith, recently of this place, has secured a patent on a name hook, which the patent claims has some great advantages over the old fashioned hook. The hook is really three hooks, arranged one above the other, in parallel planes, the top and bottom hooking best laterally upon opposite sides of the middle hook. By the device the weight in pulling can be regulated and changed from point to point on the shoulder of the horse. The Election Contest. The contest for the office of Justice in Bell Mines precinct between Fred Imboden and Jno. C. was heard by the court last week. Cully votes were the out, making the vote tie. The matter was settled by lot. Numbers were written on two slips of paper, and the slips were placed in a bucket. Harry Haynes, representing Cully, drew out a slip, and it fell. Pickens drew one slip for Imboden, and as soon as the slips were drawn and the numbers seen, it was found that Imboden's representative had drawn an aggregate of 33 and Cully's 48. According to the lot Imboden won. "Chuck Full of 'Em." Marion, the capital of Crittenden county, possesses enterprising spirit by which they are pre building lots to any and all, free of cost $50,000, a's drives and these who will build upon them, make for pleasure seekers. New House. We have just received a large handsome house, and it will always be ready for funeral occasions. It is a large stock of wooden and metal coffins and caskets. Walker & Olive. Henderson Fair. The Ohio Valley Railway Company will sell tickets to Henderson, Ky., one fare for the round trip, good going Sept 30, Oct 24, and returning up to and including Oct 4. J. E. Brawner, Agent. Caldwell County Fair. The Ohio Valley Railway Company will sell tickets at Cave Springs, Ky., one fare for the round trip, good going Sept 30, Oct 24, and returning up to and including Oct 4. J. E. Brawner, Agent. Leg Team Wanted. I want to hire some one with a good log team to haul saw logs for me about 3,000 feet of lumber. Hauler teacher, who is from this into to be done from my farm, twenty. Well we blundered and a half miles northwest of town need to correct it. Oh, yes, Mr. Tom Lamb's mill in Marion. I will know that there was some pay $3 per thousand, cash. Hauling tons to his teaching the school must be done immediately. Call at my house just before he arrives. G. M. Russell. Attention Ladies! I desire the ladies of Marion and Crittenden county to call at my millinery store and examine my fall and winter stock of goods. I don't want to employ a trimmer not a dressmaker, consequently can sell at smaller profits. Call and be convinced. Laura Rogard. I want country bacon; will pay Se. Hays. Briteheel.

Mr Barnett's Call. To the Members of the First Congressional District Committee: Having been advised by Col John B. Castleman, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee that I am ex-officio chairman of the Congressional committee of the First District, I hereby request the chairman of each Democratic county committee to attend a meeting of the congressional district committee, at Paducah Monday, Sept 29th, 1890, for the purpose of organizing the district committee, and taking such action as they may deem best in regard to the selection of a Democratic candidate for Congress in this district. Henry Barnett, Member State Ex. Com. First district. Phrenology and Encephalography. Prof R. O. Davis, of New Orleans, has been delivering lectures at this place this week on Phrenology and hypnotism. He has had large audiences and has the people of Marion thoroughly worked up on these themes. His lectures possess considerable literary merit, besides the scientific ideas advanced. Hypnotism is a kind of sleep and is produced by magnetism, and this phase of his lectures has produced the most interest in Marion. After his lectures he gives public exhibitions of hypnotism. While in the hypnotic state, the subjects are completely submissive to the Professor's will, and entirely bereft of consciousness. It would be unkind, after enjoying a special invitation by the Board of Trade of Cumberland Gap, to visit their little city, not to mention some facts connected with it. Cumberland Gap is less than two years old, situated on the Tennessee side of the mountain. The town is incorporated, with about one thousand inhabitants. The "Board of Trade" are making every effort to build up and beautify their town, by building stores, churches, hotels, etc. The historic little city is blessed with a sulphur spring, chalybeate spring, and a number of fine limestone springs, which trickle down the mountain side, forming at its base what is known as Gap creek. The mountain side, in a great natural curiosity. The cave was beautifully lighted up for one mile, at the end of which mile the dinner hall was reached about 12 o'clock, and such a lunch as kings would delight to see was spread for the quail drivers of Kentucky. Petioled turkeys, game, and other things too tedious to mention were there, to say nothing of the Auditorium and Queen's chamber in which are all the beautiful formations usually found in such places. The Park Company own lands county, possesses enterprising spirit by which they are pre building lots to any and all, free of cost $50,000, a's drives and these who will build upon them, make for pleasure seekers. A wagon road leads from base of mountain to Pinnacle Rock, several hundred feet above the Gap itself where you want to locate on a healthy where you will have all the best of good air, water, and chalybeate and sulphur, and last and not least, good people with whom to associate. J. BELL KEVIL. Iron Hill. Mr G. H. Burt has in his fall and winter shoes and boots. J. B. Kevil, Agent. Road carts at very low figures at McGowan's, Freedom. Don't forget it. G. E. Caldwell has got the best, neatest and cheapest stock of boots and shoes ever brought to Freedom. Come and see them and get his prices. Calicoes at 6 and 6 1/2 cents at G. E. Caldwell's, South Freedom, Ky. If you want good goods, cheap, go to Caldwell's. He sells for the cash. The prices of boots and shoes have gone up, but G. E. Caldwell is selling at the same old prices. He has a very large stock and sells for cash. Hats of all kinds at G. E. Caldwell's, cheap for cash. Goods very cheap at G. E. Caldwell's for the next 30 days for the cash. Go to W. B. Moore's new store for big bargains in everything. You will be surprised at his low prices. He will pay the highest price for produce. For fall and winter clothing don't fail to see Frazier's stock at Shady Grove. Notice. Farm of 88 acres, 3 miles north of Marion, on State road; 75 acres cleared and in grass and clover; 60 of the 75 good tobacco land. Will sell for $1000; one third down, balance in one and two years with six percent interest; or will trade for town property in Marion. J. M. McChesney. Salem, Ky.

Twenty Minutes at Freedom. Ye editor had occasion to pay the city of Freedom an afternoon call Friday. She is up and at it as far as business is concerned. There are fourteen business houses in the dual place and business is divided up as follows: SOUTH FREEDOM. D. B. Fargeson, hardware. G. E. Caldwell, dry goods. Sam Howerton, dry goods. Joe Debow, groceries. Rice & Rice, groceries. FREEDOM. J. A. Garner, dry goods. Debow & Jacobs, groceries. H. C. McGowan, hardware. Dr. R. R. Morgan, drugs. T. J. Morgan, dry goods. E. T. Byrd, dry goods. John B. Dorr & Co, furniture. Jas Bugg, drugs. W. B. Moore, groceries. They are all pleasant business men and appear to be doing a good business, and are peaceful, contented and happy, shaking a poor editor's head as heartily as if a fat pocket book was within his grasp. Judge Garner holds the scales of justice as police judge, and we are satisfied that he is going to have that whole, between the new and old town, arrested, for it was FULL, and certainly a public nuisance. Henry McGowan, erstwhile a citizen of Marion, has plenty of work to do; besides keeping house, selling hardware, editing the Freedom department of the Princeton Banner, he has a—no, not boy, but big, fine English mastiff pup to play with. Walter Byrd puts great store by the fine country surrounding the town. He suggested the idea that Crittenden, Caldwell, Lyon and Livingston counties ought to unite and hold a big fair every year, and that the central point and place for holding it is Freedom. This is not a bad idea. Dr Morgan had been out to the Capital Association the day before, and was telling how Elder Taylor's sermon on disputed points of church doctrine worried Uncle John Hillyard. T. Morgan had been to the Association, and was telling how he was grip on the buggy, fell to the ground, and for his trouble carries his arm in a sling. Sam Howerton is the hustler of South Freedom, and he seated in a cushion chair, while he wrote a card for the readers of the Press, which will be found in another column. Geo Caldwell is the chattiest man in South Freedom. George has a fine milk cow, that he thinks a great deal of. She gives five gallons of milk per day, and if any man has a cow to beat this record he can have the blue ribbon. NOTES. If you want to buy hardware, cooking and heating stoves, saddlery, wagon and buggy harness, and all kinds of farming implements at bottom prices, go to McGowan's in Freedom. Get an "Acme" Harrow from McGowan. Take it home and try it, and if it does not prove satisfactory return it. Road carts at very low figures at McGowan's, Freedom. Don't forget it. G. E. Caldwell has got the best, neatest and cheapest stock of boots and shoes ever brought to Freedom. Come and see them and get his prices. Calicoes at 6 and 6 1/2 cents at G. E. Caldwell's, South Freedom, Ky. If you want good goods, cheap, go to Caldwell's. He sells for the cash. The prices of boots and shoes have gone up, but G. E. Caldwell is selling at the same old prices. He has a very large stock and sells for cash. Hats of all kinds at G. E. Caldwell's, cheap for cash. Goods very cheap at G. E. Caldwell's for the next 30 days for the cash. Go to W. B. Moore's new store for big bargains in everything. You will be surprised at his low prices. He will pay the highest price for produce. For fall and winter clothing don't fail to see Frazier's stock at Shady Grove. Notice. Farm of 88 acres, 3 miles north of Marion, on State road; 75 acres cleared and in grass and clover; 60 of the 75 good tobacco land. Will sell for $1000; one third down, balance in one and two years with six percent interest; or will trade for town property in Marion. J. M. McChesney. Salem, Ky.

Mr T M George, one of the most prosperous farmers in this county, and Miss Lou Lowery, the accomplished and beautiful daughter of Thomas Lowery, were united in marriage at the residence of the bride's father Wednesday night. Many of the friends of both parties were present. Shortly after the marriage all were invited out to the dining room to supper. It would take too much time and space to describe this supper, but it was a grand affair in every respect, and only such persons as Mr Lowery and his good wife could get up such a supper. We wish the happy couple a long and prosperous life. Vernon Matlock, of Weston, Ky, brought Miss Beulah Barnes, of Marion, to the wedding. From the way they looked at each other it would guess on the subject we would guess that they twain would soon be made one. Johnny Lowery and Charley Evans are going to leave us soon; they will attend the school at Lebanon, Ohio. Fred Vanhorn, of Blackford, is talking of opening a saloon in our town. We hope he will do so; we need money to improve the streets, and he could select no better place to sell whisky than Salem. B. H. Hayden sold two more lots on church street yesterday. Our town is on a boom and has at last taken the proper course to make a good town. The citizens of Salem and the neighborhood have formed a stock company to build a large two story brick college to cost not less than ten thousand dollars. Isaac Linley donated six acres of ground adjoining town for the building site and for the college campus. Five thousand dollars of the money has already been subscribed by good men, and the matter is in the hands of able, energetic men, who will push the enterprise through. James Baxter has returned from Texas, and is making arrangements to go into the family grocery business here. Barker & Spears, who sold out to Farris & Gray, are talking of starting another drug store here. alone paid out to the farmers of Livingston county last year in actual cash over forty thousand dollars for stock. Now then to think of what the other stock men, such as Reed & Babb, Jim Davis, L. Hibbs, Dave Adams and many others have paid out in cash to the farmers of this county for stock, and then you will have some idea what our farmers are doing in the stock line. All of the above named men have done much more trading than Jesse Gray in the last year. Overdyer Slocum. Weston. Wedding in town this week—Mr Robert Chron to Miss Emma Plumlee. Bob is a good boy and his many friends wish him ben voyage. The big boats are all in line now is the time for a cheap ride, North or South. Some of the Dresser boys still like Weston, or something draws them back; some bright eye attraction, I guess. J. W. Hughes wears a broad smile. It is a ten pound girl at his house this time. Mr John Nunn, one of our best farmers, was in town Friday. The Bottom Rock base ball club crossed with the Joe's Saturday. Good game and at the close the Joe's had a big boy at Powell Heath's on the 18th. What has become of the Crider's? Gone in a nine hole. W. L. Nunn, who has been on a visit to his father, talks of returning to Florida next week. Uncle Chup Nunn has rebuilt his house, destroyed by the cyclone. J. L. Hughes and wife paid Elijah Hill's family a visit Saturday. D. G. Moreland is out again after a week with a catarrh and chills. R. F. Haynes and Lewis Cook made a flying visit to Marion Sunday. Harry Cook was in Evansville last week on business. Dumbly heard from his brother on Sunday, that he thought was dead for 25 years. Uncle Kig had a mighty sick horse Sunday. Brookmeyer is a good one behind the boy; Crowell is a daisy in the field; Tom R. is the boss batter; the Bottom Rock short stop is a Hur; Capt Jim sends the nippers on a corn all round. Chas. Lacey is a hustler; Bethany Rock boys are all fine fellows and play well for their practice. B. Sugar, coffee, tea, etc., etc., good grades, low prices at S. A. Frazier's Shady Grove.

THE MORMON QUESTION. Report of the Utah Commission for the Year Ending September 1. Salt Lake City, Sept. 17.—The Utah Commission has forwarded to the Secretary of the Interior a lengthy report of its operations and proceedings for the year ending September 1, 1890. The principal feature of the report is the recommendation of further legislation in support of the existing laws. After reviewing the elections held in Utah since their last report the Commissioner says: "During the year there have been frequent expressions of the hope that the church would, in some authoritative and explicit manner, declare in favor of the abandonment of polygamy or plural marriage, as one of the saving doctrines or teachings of the church; but no such declaration has been made. There is little reason for doubting, so complete is the control of the church over a large majority of the membership of the so-called 'Mormon Church,' and a settlement of the much discussed 'Mormon' question would soon be reached. "On the contrary, in all the teachings of the Tabernacle and the church organs every effort of the Government to suppress this crime is still denominated as a persecution, and those charged with ferreting out and prosecuting the guilty are denominated as persecutors of the Saints. The church seems to grow more united from day to day under these teachings. At the general conference of the church held at Salt Lake, in April last, Wilford Woodruff, a disfranchised polygamist was chosen Prophet, Seer and Revelator, and President of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in all the world; the first time since the death of John Taylor, in 1887, that that office has been filled. "At the same time, George Q. Cannon was chosen as 'First Counselor in the First Presidency,' and Lorenzo Snow, as 'President of the Twelve Apostles,' all of them being disfranchised polygamists. "The Council of the Twelve Apostles and the high dignitaries of the church are polygamists, and all are reported to be open believers in the doctrine. Indeed, it is believed that no one can be promoted to office in the church unless he professes a belief in such a fundamental doctrine. "The report then quotes from speeches of President Woodruff, C. Q. Cannon and others, in support of the assertion and continues: "It is the opinion of the Commission that nothing but the wholesome fear of the penalties of the law leads them to even make a pretence of obedience to it, in that there has never been any change in the gospel ordinances. "The Commission is in receipt of reports from its registration officers, which enumerate forty-one male persons, who, it is believed, have entered into the polygamic relation in their several precincts since the June revision, in 1889. Crediting them with one plural wife each would give eighty-two persons thus reported as entering into the relation forbidden by law, and said to be forbidden by the church authorities. The belief is also expressed that only a small proportion of the polygamous marriages are reported, as many of the registrars are members of the Mormon church. The Commission recommends that the powers of the Commission be so enlarged as to authorize and enable it to issue instructions which shall be binding upon the registrars of its appointment in the performance of their legal duties. The report also recommends the enactment of a law similar to the Idaho Test Oath law, "believing that it would do more to put an end to the teachings and practice of polygamy than has yet been accomplished by the partial enforcement of existing laws." In conclusion, the Commission repeats what it said in its last report, "that, in this matter, the Government and Congress should take no backward or even wavering step, but should continue the active and vigorous enforcement of the laws, and the improvement of them by the amendment of such as would make them more effective, and by enacting such other laws, as experience may show to be wise and more efficacious to accomplish the desired end." The Mississippi Constitutional Convention made the payment of a $2 poll tax the only qualification to vote where a man has resided in the State two years. Sugar, coffee, tea, etc., etc., good grades, low prices at S. A. Frazier's Shady Grove.

ISSUED WEEKLY.

R. C. WALKER, Publisher.

Congress will endeavor to adjourn Oct. 1.

The population of Cincinnati is 296,309, an increase of 41,170 in ten years.

Eighty-five pensions bills in fifty minutes was the record of the Senate Saturday.

Miller, the prohibition candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, withdrew from the canvass.

There are a few record makers in the Constitutional Convention—men who had rather be President than right.

The anti lottery bill has been signed by the President. It is now a violation of law to mail letters to lottery companies.

The Senate has passed a pension bill allowing women who served six months as army nurses and who are unable to support themselves, $12 per month.

The generous general pension laws are not satisfying the demands at its evening session Friday the House passed 72 private pension bills.

The United States grand jury at Minneapolis has indicted thirteen men, accused of forging returns on the census returns of that city and St. Paul.

Hon James A. McKenzie has been appointed chairman of the Executive Committee at the World's Fair. He gets a salary of $8,000 a year. This is better than running for Congress.

Last week private detectives supposed they had Dick Tate, Kentucky's defaulting Treasurer, in Dallas county, Mo. The man arrested turned out to be Columbus Tate, and he will prosecute the detectives.

Mr Voorhees introduced a joint resolution in the Senate for the immediate increase of silver money by the purchase and coinage of 10,000 ounces of silver, at a price below $1.2920, within the next 30 days.

The Christian county grand jury has indicted Sheriff C. M. Brown, two of his deputies, for obtaining money under false pretenses, embezzlement and defalcation. The amount involved is $15,000.

Wm O'Brien and John Dillon, leaders of the Land League, have been placed under arrest in Ireland by the British authorities. They are charged with conspiracy, which is regarded as a pretext to prevent their proposed visit to the United States in the interest of the Irish cause.

There is a deadlock in the Lower House of Congress. The Republicans want to unseat Venable, a Democratic Congressman from Virginia, and put Langston, a Republican, in his place. Wherever the matter is called up the Democrats leave the House, breaking a quorum, and thus the case has been pending for several days and will continue until the Republicans get a quorum of their own members.

The committee has finished investigating Pension Commissioner Itam. He will be whitewashed. The New York Tribune charges that Pension Agent Leman, who loaned $100,000 to Leman, has been running the Pension Office for twenty years. Leman has grown immensely rich from his business as pension agent.

The Hopkinsville Kentuckian claims that President Clay "snubbed" Dr. Clardy in the make up of his committee. The doctor's friends claim that he was entitled to a chairmanship, but Clay gave him second place on the committee. The inference to be drawn is that Clay is a pro active candidate for Governor, and he is not anxious to give Clardy the prominence of a chairmanship, as he too has some aspirations in the direction of the Executive chair. If these things be true, we learn early in the contest that human nature is about the same in farmer candidates as in lawyer candidates.

A number of Prohibitionists of this Congressional district met in Paducah Saturday, and adopted a platform of principles and turned the matter of nominating a candidate for Congress over to the District Committee. The committee, it is said, favors Dr. Don Singletary, of Hickman county. Only our counties were represented in Saturday's convention.

The committee ought to understand from previous elections in the State that the great majority of those who believe in prohibition will not vote for a prohibition candidate for public office, and the continual rushing forward of candidates subjects the cause to division. This has proved true in a race against a sober, christian gentleman as

The Tobacco Warehouse Combination.

[Farmers Home Journal.]

The opinion seems to prevail among those supposed to know, that the proposed combination of all the tobacco warehouses of Cincinnati and Louisville is about ready to be consummated. It is with profound regret that the Farmers Home Journal has watched the negotiation and development of this deal. When the matter was first rumored, some months ago, we did not believe the Louisville warehousemen would go into it, and so stated. Some of the warehousemen, when questioned by us on the subject, disclaimed any knowledge of any such deal. We have regarded the Louisville warehousemen as the farmers' friends. Their position, as the farmers' commission merchants, naturally made them so. To them the farmers entrust their shipments, often with full authority to sell or hold as they might think best. To them they look for protection against combinations and encroachments of manufacturers and buyers. Prompted by this idea the Farmers Home Journal has fought a side by side with the warehousemen trying to build up the Louisville market. We have done this sometimes at the expense of severe criticism from some of our readers. We thought they were right, and that their measures would result in benefiting farmers, and a frankly said so. But now, when they propose to unite with certain money kings in a gigantic trust company, by which all competition both in buying and selling tobacco can be practically abolished, it is depriving themselves of the opportunity or ability to represent the farmer, it seems to us, much as we may regret it, that our paths must separate.

Until now we have said very little on the subject, hoping that something would happen to prevent the consummation of the deal, but as it is publicly announced that it is practically closed we cannot afford to remain longer silent. In our judgment it is a combination fraught with the utmost danger to the grower and shipper of tobacco. The plan, as heretofore stated, is simply this: All the warehousemen of Louisville and Cincinnati have formed a joint stock company, trust or pool—it matters little by what name it is called. The capital is to be five million dollars. About one-third of this stock is to be taken by the several warehousemen of the two cities, the remainder to be divided among the stockholders. The whole management of the sale of leaf tobacco in the two cities is to be controlled by one board of directors to be elected by the stockholders. Among these stockholders will be manufacturers and buyers. Who knows but that this class will own most of the stock and elect the managers? Then who will they represent, the poor farmer, struggling under a burden already too heavy, or the millionaire manufacturer or foreign syndicate buyer? Some of this stock, they say, will be offered to farmers. Yes, but are farmers now in position to buy it? We see nothing in this movement but oppression for the grower of tobacco. No matter what bait may be thrown out at first, he will suffer in the end. The trust, for such it is, is simply to make more money out of the business. There is but one class out of which it can be made. Whoever has a share of the trust or combine that did not squeeze those in its power? They profess that, under the new management, lower fees may be charged. When the buyers, through this trust, can practically destroy competition, what do they care about fees? They may own the stock in the trust, but if they get their tobacco at their own prices the fees become merely secondary. They may abolish all fees to seller and make millions where they make thousands now.

This movement will give the Wheeler a chance now to assert themselves. There is work for the organized farmers, such as they have never had before. They have thousands of friends in the business world and it is their duty to fight, this monopoly capital can be had also. A state meeting should be called to consider what may be done.

M. C. Givens, circuit judge in the 3d judicial district, suggests the following change in the jury system, which would annually save the State thousands of dollars. He says: "With this reduction the State would save annually over $125,000 in jury fees alone. The character of the juries would be raised from the necessity of the case. It is easier to procure a panel of six good men than to procure a panel of twelve. The probability of getting inferior men upon the juries would be diminished; a court can empanel a jury of six quicker than a jury of twelve. Six men can try a case in less time than twelve. The probability of a hung jury would be just one half as great with six as with twelve jurors. In a given time, say a month, a court with a unit system and six jurors will do as much completed business as the same court could do in the same time under the majority system with twelve jurors.

The large Wheeler flooring mill has closed down for lack of funds and grain necessary to run it longer. The mill is already in debt to the amount of $20,000. The stockholders will meet Saturday to decide on what they will do, and there is a probability that the mill will be sold. We hope it will not be sold, as it is one of the finest mills in Western Kentucky or West Tennessee. —Fulton Graphic.

Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 15.—The T. J. Monarch distillery at Grissom's Landing belonging to the estate was sold this afternoon at the court house door. Quite a large number of interested parties were present. The sale was started with a bid of $25,000, and ran up to $5,000 a bid until $60,000 was reached, when the bidders began to raise $1,000 a time until it got to $100,000, when one or two $500 rates were made. Then the home stretch was run by a few rapid raises of $10,000 a time until $110,000 was bid by R. Monarch when the other bidders threw up. Messrs M. V. Monarch and John Thixton were the other competitors in the bidding.

A whole community is in mourning. We have witnessed death as we never saw it before. For a week or so a protracted meeting had been in progress at Good Hope. Rev Wm Vinyard arose before a large audience Sunday at 11 a. m. and his moving lesson; then bowing in prayer he offered a feeling petition the God he so loved to worship. An appropriate hymn was sung, and the dear old brother took a text from Roman 8: verses 15, 16 and 17. He was feeling unusually well as he began his interesting sermon. All eyes were riveted upon him and all ears were catching his words. Suddenly he was seen to waver—his voice hushed and he staggered to one side, and would have fallen to the floor had not strong arms caught him and eased him down. He uttered a word and was all over, and the sermon began on earth was ended on Heaven. —Elizabethtown (Ill) Independent.

The Sand Lick Oil and Gas Company that was organized about a year ago and which is now developing the lands in Christian county, is likely to make a good thing of the investments made. Oil of a fine quality has been found at a depth of 400 feet, and there seems to be a very good amount of it. Pumping is being used and the flow will be increased. The proposition is to go down to the 800 or 1,000 feet, when, the stockholders believe that plenty of oil will be found. About $1200 has been spent in developing the well, and it is thought that as much more invested will make a good find. The stockholders are enthusiastic in regard to the matter. Everything indicates that there is plenty of oil in that region. They have leases on about ten thousand acres of land. Already the stock has advanced and those holding are not willing to sell except at a large advance. —Herald.

Agnes Rankin, lately paroled by the governor on men's clothes and male stealing escapade, seems scarcely to have struck dirt on the farm on which her mother is a tenant until she has singled her hair, donned boy's apparel again and is once more off for the wars. Unfortunately Agnes will in all probability not steal another male after the other experience, but she is very much bent to do something bad. But she was at least honest with her mother in one respect. She decided on her own $1.75 from her mother's $1.50, all that both of them had, and left the latter in a tin bucket where the mother could find it. It would no doubt have been better if Agnes had put herself in the tin bucket too, but her wild oats are not all in yet and she is gone out to finish the sowing. It will be but little while until the Tom-boy girl is heard from, and when it comes it will be more trouble. But when they take a notion you can't do anything with them—Paducah Standard.

Reading, Pa. Sept. 19.—A wreck occurred on the Reading road, seven miles above this place about 6:45 tonight. If everything is borne out by subsequent developments, it is the worst wreck that has ever occurred in the section in the history of the Reading railroad company. The train which met with the disaster left this city at 6:05 o'clock, ten minutes late. It is known as the Puttville express, and was running at the rate of at least 37 to 40 miles an hour. It had on board a slightly 185 to 190 passengers, and consisted of engine, tender, mail and express cars and three passenger cars; above Shoenakersville, this county, about fifteen miles above this city, there is a curve where the railroad is about eighteen to twenty feet above the Skunk river. Here, shortly before 6 o'clock, a freight train ran into a special train, throwing several cars of the latter on the opposite track, and before the train hands had time to warn any approaching train of the danger, the Puttville express came around the curve and ran into the wrecked coal cars on its track. The engine went down the embankment, followed by the entire train with its human freight.

The scene was one of great horror. The cries of the imprisoned passengers were heartrending; it was truly a scene never to be forgotten by those who participated and survived. Some of the passengers managed to crawl out of their prison and around the neighborhood. Word was telegraphed to this city and help summoned. But all information was refused at this point by the railroad officials. Physicians and surgeons and a force of three hundred workmen were taken to and from the company, and with the aid of a traveling electric light plant the work of clearing away the wreck was at once proceeded with. Work was slow, and the dead and dying were taken out with great difficulty. The wrecked train is still lying at the bottom of the river tonight; the exact number on the passenger list is not known, and a reporter who is still on the ground telephones the Associated Press Agent that consecutive estimates place the number of killed at 40 to 50.

Two neighboring farmers in Clark county, Ky., owned each a flock of sheep, one Cotswold and the other Southdown—each flock pure of its kind. Each farmer claimed that his sheep were the most profitable. The owner of the Southdowns, admitting that the Cotswolds had more weight, but claimed to more than make the difference in price when shipped to market. The owner of the Southdowns began to feel his yearling weathers on oats and corn the 15th of August, and fed them until the 15th of December following, and then sold them to the owner of the Cotswolds at 44, averaging 141 lbs. The Cotswold man fed his yearling weathers no grain, and at the same time they averaged 181 pounds—all shipped to New York in one car for the Christmas market. [The Southdowns sold at $7.50 and the Cotswolds at $7 per hundred. The spring they were yearlings the Southdowns closed 54 pounds of wool and the Cotswolds 131 pounds; the former sold at 25 and the latter at 22 cents per pound. —Jesseamine Journal.

Preparations are being made for the elopement of two enamored lovers of our acquaintance near here.

It matters not, now, to them whether their past life has always been perched by boundless pleasure or not.

They have both vowed to one another that they will collect all those "letters" and affections that they have so frequently and freely displayed in the past.

They both gladly forsake all for a reciprocated love. Both then, tranquil and happy, embark upon the matrimonial sea.

Soon the two will go out together into the world hand in hand.

Though they launch out, governed and led by sweet promises, and an indescribable amount of manifestations, by the encircling of arms and the lavishing of kisses, fragrant with perfumes and roses; which is all designated (so books teach us) to make one forget himself and absolutely emancipate him from earthly things and make a plunge into sea.

What ensues all this?

Ah, love! love!

Such is not imaginary altogether

but when reality is recognized fully the dark days dawn.

"Fate's hand may smite hard things which are tenderest."

Perhaps across the home threshold some shadows may fall that make life a misery, and you, troubled beyond expression, roll upon your couch and wonder what will come next.

You realize your situation. You are not free now for everything that is touching in woman's confidence has been reposed in you. The perfect purity of a sinless and stainless life is yours to cherish.

But sometimes different dispositions fail to agree and then a sensation is created, then true devotion is absent and then a separation is the result. A disdainful reclaimer spirit captures each one accompanied by cold sarcastic uproofs. Ah, then where is your true love? "Good bye my lover, good bye."

But to all that are now traveling the pathway of "single blessedness," and who expect to forsake it soon, we proclaim may "soft winds blow for you and a perfect possession come to you as the gentle night dew come to summer's hill."

A MURDER MYSTERY.

It is Solved by the Dying Statement of the Victim.

Identification of a stranger who was shot in a skiff in mid-river some time ago near Caldonia, Ill, several miles above here and who later died of his injuries, is at last completely his own confession given an hour before his death, but which was not given to the public until a few days since. The man's name was John Walker.

He lived with his widowed mother and two brothers near Ford's Ferry, Ky. In explaining how he came to be shot he said he Henry Mosby and a man named Mesher, who had been at work near his home getting out railroad ties, concluded to go South and started in a skiff.

At Metropolis they got on a drunk and started to leave Mosby and Mesher and they followed and shot him and rob him when out in the river. Returning to Metropolis, Walker made the confession only when assured that he could live but a few hours concluding the story with the assertion that Mosby was wanted at Caldonia for a murder committed several years ago, and for whose apprehension $1,000 reward was offered, and that the other man was wanted at Louisville, Ky., for some grave crime.

The murderers are understood to be hiding near Golconda, surrounded by friends of Walker. The latter part of the story needs confirmation. —Paducah News.

HUMAN SLAUGHTER.

A Half-Crazed Father Kills Three of his Daughters.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 17.—Frederick H. Hein, a half-crazy German Socialist, turned his home into a slaughter-house to-night, taking the lives of four persons and himself. He is a laboring man, aged fifty years, and is a widower living along with his three daughters—Carrie, Mary and Josephine, aged respectively fifteen, fourteen and thirteen. They were noted for their beauty and love of dress and display. Although young their father, a man of morose habits and mind, vainly attempted to keep them away from the association of outsiders, but they persisted in being upon the streets, especially the eldest, whose actions created for her an evil name. The father brooded greatly over her behavior, especially as rumor associated her unpleasantly with the name of Charles W. Taylor, a prominent hardware merchant and married man.

To-night Taylor came to Hein's house to see Carrie. The father had been drinking, and in his disordered mind he saw all three of his daughters turning into prostitutes. He went upstairs, and procuring a revolver, burst in the room where Taylor and three children were and opened fire on the group. Carrie and Mary fell dead on the first two shots, and Josephine and Taylor were mortally wounded, the latter having two bullets in him.

Sioux City Corn Palace—Sept. 25; closes Oct. 14, 1890.

WHAT IS A CORN PALACE?

The Sioux City Corn Palace was never a corn palace outside of Sioux City—a palace of corn and corn products, ingeniously and artistically arranged. The building is a large structure of lumber, of a sort that will carry and show to an advantage the multiform decorations which it is to be adorned. It is in form lofty, with break in lines, pedes, buttresses, bridges, ornamental windows, etc.

Over every inch of this surface are laid corn and kindred plants in architectural harmony with the designs. The corn is employed in the stalk, the ear, the kernel, and even the husk in its decorative uses. All the grains of the field lend themselves to the beautifying of the palace. The walls are covered on the outside with ears of corn, cut lengthwise or crosswise, and nailed on in geometrical figures or other designs. The corn colors of the cereal permit of a wide range of shading and coloring, its rustic possibilities, developed from year to year in building the face, admit of the production of effects that are as startling as pleasure.

High over the entrance of the palace of 1889 was King Corn's crown as the nucleus of a sunburst, below was the national flag in gold folds—all wrought in very-colored corn as true and as beautiful as if painted by an artist's brush. The roof is overlaid with corn leaves. Pavilions and columns are capped with the sorghum plant, or with grains and grasses. The iridescent walls, from a near distance, seem to be a rich mosaic of polished words, with the "Banners, ye glorious, golden," that "From its roof flit and flow."

The palace enraptures the beholder one who looks upon a cloud-painted mansion that may dissolve before eyes.

The interior work is finer and more elaborate. Here the kernel of the corn is largely employed, being amazing and lovely effects. On the walls are wrought pictures, creating farm scenes, legendary and nursery tales, etc., with a fidelity that is calculated to raise a doubt that the material employed is the lowly product of western farms. Frescoes and flowers, figures of men and animals, draperies and thousands of surprising and beautiful things are made of field plants. For the delight of the visitors to these, whose astonishment is succeeded by admiration of the genius that conceived and developed so much of art and beauty from such homely things as are employed.
